DECADANCE MUSIC WHAT FEELINGS SOUND LIKE

Decadance Music is a UK based electronic dance and house label. Our aim is to search and nurture fresh vocal, production and DJ talent from around the world. We then promote this talent through our various club events and radio shows, as well as our extensive network of industry contacts, as well as mainstream, and online channels.

Try and imagine how you felt when you last heard a great track. Decadance Music is 'What Feelings Sound Like'. If it's a track which makes you want to go out, when you were adamant you were staying in, then it's got the making of a Decadance track.

IT'S ALL IN THE CONTENT

Decadance as a brand, started out as a small club night in a back street bar in Bristol. It was from that one night, the brand expanded into other areas, and our radio shows and record label are two of those areas, which, coupled with the club events, make up the music side of the business; we also have an online music school called AudioSchool.co.uk.

We are predominately involved in electronic dance and house music, working with up and coming talent and more established producers. We also work alongside other labels.

Our club nights and weekly radio shows are our best assets, helping raise the profile of our artists around the world.

We are always on the look out for fresh talent, and one of the ways we discover a lot of this talent, is through our latest part of the business; AudioSchool.co.uk, which is due to launch in 2017. Audio School is a network of schools and tutors who teach students in a range of courses, from beginner level through to intermediate levels.

We will also have online only courses which will enhance existing skills people may already have, and to support them in their desire to publish their work, as well as gaining a greater opportunity in finding work within the industry, and in some cases, turning it into a career.
